AIDS TO HAPPINESS.

The Time When Help, Kindness and Sympathy Count Most.

It is during the formative period, the time when a man is seeking to get a foothold, that help counts for most, when even the slightest aid is great. A few books lent to Andrew Carnegie when he was beginning his career were, to him an inspiration. He has nobly repaid the loan; made posterity his debtor a millionfold by his beneficence in sprinkling libraries over the whole country. Help the saplings, the young growing trees of vigor; the mighty oaks have no need of your aid. The heartening words should come when needed, not when they seem only hypocritical protestations of devious preparations for future favors. Columbus, surrounded by his mutinous crew, threatening to kill him, alone amid the crowd, had no one to stand by him, but he heeded land, and riches opened before them. Then they fell at his feet, proclaimed him almost a god and said he truly was inspired from heaven. Success transfigured him; a long line of pebbly beach and a few trees made him divine. A little patience along the way, a little closer companionship, a little brotherly love in his hours of watching, waiting, and hoping, would have been great balm to his soul.

It is in childhood that pleasures count most, when the slightest investment of kindness brings a return. Let us give the children sunlight, love, companionship, sympathy with their little troubles and worries that seem to them so great, genuine interest in their growing hopes, their vague, unproportioned dreams and yearnings. Let us put ourselves into their places, view the world through their eyes so that we may gently correct the errors of their perspective by our greater wisdom. Such trifles will make them genuinely happy, happier by far than things a thousand times greater that come too late.—From "The Power of Truth," by William George Jordan, Published by Brentano's.

ARABIC PROVERBS.

To the dog who has money men say, "My lord dog."

Consult thy wife and do the reverse of what she advises.

When the moon is with thee of what account are the stars.

Joy lasts for seven days, but sadness endures for a lifetime.

He who has gold is beloved, though he be a dog and the son of a dog.

It is better to commit ten sins in the sight of God than one in the sight of men.

Those who are learning to shave heads practice upon those of the orphans.

The beauty of a man lies in his intelligence; the intelligence of a woman is to be found in her beauty.

When thou seest two people in constant converse thou mayest know that the one is the dupe of the other.

Shun him who can be of no use to thee. In this world he cannot serve thee and in that which is to come he cannot intercede in thy behalf.—"Tunis."

Sketches.

Feline amenities show themselves most forcibly at committee meetings. There was one of these latter gathered together to discuss a charity bazaar. The chairman smiled sweetly upon the artist's wife and said:

"You'll get your husband to let us have some little thing of his for the art table, will you not, Mrs. Mahietick?"

"Well, you know husbands are not always easily managed, my dear."

"Ah, but take him after one of your nice dinners and then put in a word for our worthy cause. But remember we are not allowed to have anything which sells for over $25."

"Indeed!" And then Mrs. M.'s eyebrows went up alarmingly. "Then perhaps he'll induce one of his pupils to dash off something for you."—New York Times.

Painting Animals' Eyes.

One of the most difficult things which the artists and taxidermists of the government studio have to do is the painting and preparation of glass eyes for the mammals, birds and reptiles mounted at that institution for exhibition in the National museum.

These "eyes" are made of glass, hollow within and from the rear, so that the inner surface may be painted any color desired. As no two animals' eyes are alike and as the colors are often complicated and unusual, it requires a great deal of skill, study and practice before one is competent to undertake the work.

Life Saving Superstition.

The superstitious collier is often laughed to scorn, but a miner in north Wales is just now thanking his lucky stars that he believes in omens. He was boring under some coal and was startled by seeing a rat scuttling away. He walked away from the spot and directly afterward a large fall of coal occurred just over the place where the man had been working.—London Standard.

IDEOGRAPHIC FIGURES.

A Lesson in English That Was Taught by a Chinaman. That we have partially adopted the Chinese method in our written language was a new thought to me and one that I got from the proprietor of a Park avenue laundry when, in the natural Caucasian fashion, I referred to his written language as being very inferior.

"John," I said, "why do your people use those chicken tracks instead of having an alphabet, as we have?"

"A B C too much trouble," he answered quickly. "Why, you use chicken tracks, too, sometimes."

"We don't use them," I replied. "Yes; you use them very good. I show you." Then he dipped his convenient brush in the ink and made the number "80" on a sheet of brown paper. "That name of street over there," he continued, pointing. "You say 'eighty-nine'; you don't write it with 'A B C'. That Chinese. One mark is one thing—you say 'idea'; yes, idea. You don't put down 'i-d-e-a'—and here his brush came into use again—"You put down '8'." That's very good Chinese. We do that all the time."

"That is ideographic," I suggested. "Yes, English has much ideographic. All figures ideographic. See? You make '2' and '4'; and you say 'minus', 'plus'. You don't spell with 'A B C'. That is a mark for idea—ideographic. You make 'M' and say 'thousand'. That Chinese way. Very good. I say, 'How hot?' and you write 'hot'. All Chinese. No 'A B C'; no many letters, only marks and ideas."

"Fine way. English know some fine Chinese ways. See? '8', '9'. You know them. Ideas? You say ideographic. You make many Chinese marks—marks for stars, for planets, for measures, for weights and signs for hundred and hundred many things; same as Chinese. Good!"

A DRAMATIC LAWYER.

Effective Clinch That Resulted in Settling a Murder Case. Lachaud, the great French advocate, was renowned for deliberate but telling dramatic improvisations, as it were, upon the original theme.

At one time, for instance, he was defending a murderer on Dec. 24. All day long he harassed witnesses, recalling them, causing delay after delay before getting his final address to the jury. It was well on in the evening before he concluded his address suddenly, at the height of his passionate appeals for the prisoner, the slow, solemn bells of the cathedral next door pealed for the midnight mass—the first mass of Christmas morning. Lachaud stopped as if overwhelmed by a sudden warning.

"Do you hear?" he said solemnly after a moment's silence, and his manner conveyed that all his own glib eloquence had been shattered by the divine interruption of Christ himself. "The Redeemer comes to amend our pitiable endeavors. Which of us would dare now, on this great day of mercy and forgiveness, to condemn another human being and, above all, to condemn our whose culpability is more than doubtful?"

The prisoner was acquitted without the least difficulty, though his death sentence ten minutes before had been regarded as certain. The actual sound of the pealing bells had been too much for nerves already strained to snapping point by the fatigue of a long day's sitting.

But nobody guessed, except the few who knew Lachaud intimately, that he had been maneuvering from the time the court opened in the morning to get that one stirring effect. The prisoner was a dead man without it and saved as certainly if it could be brought off successfully.—Kansas City Independent.

Simple Headache Cure.

There is a headache cure that is said to be a marvelous remedy and to relieve the sufferer when all else fails. It is easy to make and easy to apply, and it consists simply of black pepper and camphor. Take a quantity of black pepper and put it in a handkerchief. Then fold the handkerchief over so that the grains cannot fall out and saturate the whole thing with camphor. Bind this "plaster" on the head and lie down. In a very few moments the headache will be relieved and the patient will be asleep. When the handkerchief becomes dry saturate again with the camphor; that's all. People who have tried everything else say that this home remedy relieves them quickest. At any rate, it is worth trying.

Jules Ferry's Escape From the Mob. Jules Ferry had a narrow escape from violence at the hands of the Paris commune, to whom he was especially odious. He eluded their pursuit through a church, letting himself down in a basket out of a rear window while the mob was forcing the outer door. The basket fell to the ground with a thud and gave its occupant a severe shaking up.

Where Invention Is Necessary. "Have you made any improvements in your invention?" "I have," answered the enterprising scientist. "One of my assistants has just discovered a new way to put stock on the market."—Washington Star.

Life's Surprises. "Life," said the tobaccoist to the wooden Indian, "is for most people a continuous process of getting used to things that they haven't been expecting."—Syracuse Herald.

Announcement.

It is with great pleasure that the management announce that they have secured at great expense the celebrated Kennedy Bros' Wild West Show, Congress of Indians and Rough Riders from the far West, and Roman Hippodrome, combining a Great Number of Daring, Novel and Interesting Features, to be given during each day of the Two Great Fairs at Guthrie and Madisonville this year. All their performances are given in the track in full view of the amphitheatre and taken altogether, it is equal and in many respects better than can be seen at the best circuses on the road, for the reason that the performers are not cramped by the limits of a small ring in the execution of their wonderful feats of horsemanship.

These performances are given between heats of races and ring shows, thereby relieving the monotonous and tiresome waits so often the case at Fair and race meetings.

The programme of races and ring shows and other regular fair features is much more varied and liberal than ever; the work of preparing for the exhibitions was begun much earlier than ever, and the management gives positive assurance that the exhibitions at either place will be far superior to anything ever attempted in the past. In addition to a splendid programme of running races, liberal purses have been offered for trotting and pacing races at both fairs, and the public can confidently rely upon seeing some of the best racing in all three classes ever seen in this section of the state.

A nice circuit has been arranged so that the fairs of this section follow one another to the best advantage. The following are the fairs embraced: Guthrie, July 29 to August 1; Madisonville, August 4 to 8; Uniontown, August 11 to 15; Mt. Vernon, Ind., August 17 to 21; New Harmony, Ind., August 24 to 28; Shawneetown, Ill., August 25 to 29; Carmi, Ill., September 1 to 5; Princeton, September 7 to 12. Beginning at Guthrie the distance from one fair to the other is short and expense of shipping small, consequently full fields may be assured. The first fairs have the advantage in securing the best racing for the reason there are not so many fairs running in different parts of the country and horsemen naturally want to take the first opportunity of seeing what their horses can do; the horses are at their best and race for all there is in sight. Guthrie and Madisonville are the only fairs in the state on their dates that have racing, consequently the horsemen will flock to them. Last year at Madisonville there were from ten to sixteen horses in every race, while the purses were smaller than were offered at Guthrie in October, when there were only three and four horses in a race. The reason is that Madisonville came early and had no conflicting fair dates, while Guthrie Fair was held at a time when three other fairs were going on in this territory, with no dates close the following week. Shipping expense was therefore high and the other fairs naturally divided the horses with Guthrie, making the Guthrie races a partial failure. This year this will be reversed and Guthrie and Madisonville both will have as many horses in all the classes as can well get lined up in the track.

Half fares rates on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, to both places during week of Fair within a radius of 75 miles. For time card of special trains see small hand bills.

Positively no gambling or drunkenness will be tolerated at either Fair. Everything connected with the exhibition will be clean and unobjectionable. The management desire to afford innocent amusement to the people who attend, not to demoralize, and nothing will be seen or done that will offend the most fastidious taste. This policy has been followed for years successfully at Madisonville, where the crowds grow larger and more enthusiastic year by year, and those who desire to attend the Guthrie Fair may rest assured that the same policy will prevail there.

People who attend the Guthrie Fair may rest assured that this Fair will be equal in all essential points with the Great Hopkins County Fair at Madisonville, the same special attractions being secured for both fairs, the same horses will make the races, the same band will make the music, and if the people will take as much interest there is no reason why the Guthrie Fair should not be as successful as the Hopkins County Fair.

Col. Jack Chinn, the famous starter, has promised to start the races at each place.

BUOYANT MIDDLE AGE.

It Battles Juvenility With Youth In These Progressive Days.

Half a century ago a man of forty-five was regarded almost elderly, and a woman of the same age was expected to have long since cut herself adrift from all the binding her to her youth and to assume the appearance and deportment of a maid, exemplary matron. All this has changed in a particularly interesting way, of which the prominent feature is a seeming contradiction. If the three-year-old child of today is as knowing as was the six-year-old of half a century ago and the ten-year-old boy of today is in many respects quite as much a man as was his grandfather at eighteen, one might naturally expect that in due gradation the modern middle aged man should be old beyond his years. But such is not the case.

Middle age, so far from hurrying on into senility, so far even from standing still, would seem actually to have stepped backward and marched alongside of youth. There is a jauntiness, a buoyancy, an elasticity, about the middle age of today at which our fathers would have shaken their heads in amazement. The gulf which once separated the middle aged parent from his children has been filled up. The curtain which shrouded the middle aged man generally from the eyes of youth and which caused him to be regarded with respect (if not with awe) has been lifted, and in obedience to the same influences which have made the schoolmaster the friend of the schoolboy and the regimental officer almost the comrade of his men the middle aged man of today is never so happy as when working or playing upon an equality and actually in connection with youth.

As with men so it is with women. Social statisticians tell us that the age at which women are considered most eligible for marriage has been notably advanced of late years, and we know that the lament of many a matchmaking mamma is that the most dreaded trials of her darling are not to be found so much among the girls of her own age as among women who not many years ago would have been relegated to the ranks of hopeless old maidhood. The fact that the middle aged lady of today is much younger in manner and taste is corroborated by the only reason for this, but it is among the most potent—London Spectator.

A Very Strange Intercession.
In a church where the prayers are made at the discretion of the minister very strange intercessions are sometimes presented. I remember well ages since hearing old Dr. Muir of Glasgow, who was a real though eccentric genius in his day and of whom no English reader ever heard, relate an incident which had been in his own knowledge. "Mr. Smith was preaching at Drumaleck, and he had come to the concluding prayer, where we pray for all and sundries (sic), when he suddenly remembered that he had forgotten to pray for the magistrates. So he put in the prayer just where he was, 'Have mercy upon all fools and idiots and specially upon the magistrates of Drumaleck.' He meant no evil, but the magistrates were not pleased."—Longman's Magazine.

Playthings in Court.
Some very curious models have from time to time been produced in court in various lawsuits. There was a model of a mill produced lately in a patent case where the patentee claimed his patent to have been infringed. The patent was in connection with some part of the machinery of the mill. The model mill was set working in court while judge and counsel watched its movements with much interest. A model steam engine was once produced in an action against a railway company. The judge insisted on having the whole working of the engine explained to him, whereupon the counsel who was speaking asked for an adjournment of the trial for several days, when he would be able to give the required explanation.—London Tatler.

How to Remove Stones From Land.
Large rocks should be heaved by burning a quantity of brush on each one, and then with a good heavy sledge and steel wedges now of them can be split into fragments that can be hauled off upon the drag. Medium sized rocks may be drawn out by digging round them, fastening a log chain upon the lower side and attaching the team. Let the horses start slowly, and with a little effort the stone may be pulled out at the second or third pull. A good way to get rid of stones is to bury them, but bury them deep—not less than three feet from the surface—as they will be certain to work up to the top in a few years, when the work has to be done over again at considerable cost.

Nothing to Show For It.
"Say, doctor, what's that last $3 item in your bill for?"
"Let me see. Oh, yes; I gave you a thorough examination on that day. Don't you remember?"
"Sure I remember. But do you suppose I am going to pay you for that when you took up an hour of my time and then couldn't find anything the matter with me after all?"—Buffalo Express.

The Arme of Weakness.
Meljigger—Chicken hearted? Well, I should say; he's the limit.
Thingunob—Is that so?
Meljigger—Nothing can make him fight. Why, I've even seen him let a man chest him out of his turn in the barter shop, and he never said a word.

WATCHING KENNEDY BROS' WILD WEST SHOW.

List of Features of Kennedy's Wild West Show, Indian Congress and Roman Hippodrome!

NO. 1.

A GRAND INDIAN POW-WOW

Composed of three tribes of full-blooded western Indians—the Sioux, Cheyenne and Pawnee—introducing to the people a Grand Indian Pow-wow, the same as they do when preparing for war. In this pow-wow they give the real War Dance or the realistic production of the White Dog Feast or Snake Dance. They are all attired in War Paint and real western dress. They can also be seen at the Indian Village of Cowboy Camp at any time.

NO. 2.

Burning of the Lone Settler's Cabin.

Trapper Tom, who had settled on his claim alone and made his living by hunting, trapping and trading with the Indians. A cabin is erected and not far from that is an Indian trading post, where the Indians trade their furs, hides, etc., for other articles. The Indians arrive on the scene, trade some furs for whisky or fire water, after which Tom and his partner, with their furs retire to the cabin. The Indians after drinking all the whiskey, become angry and track them to their cabin and attempt to steal their furs, and are shot by Tom. Afterwards they shoot a flaming arrow to the cabin, set it on fire, and capture Tom. They then prepare to burn him at the stake but he is rescued by cowboys just in time to save him.

NO. 3.

Indians Attack Emigrant Wagons.

A Historical Event of the Mountain Meadow Massacre.

An emigrant wagon and outfit headed for the gold fields of California is attacked by Indians, and a battle takes place, in which the cowboys' horses are trained to lie down. After the Indians are driven back, two of the Indians return to scalp the supposed dead, when the cowboys fire upon them from behind their horses which the Indians suppose to be dead. This act is very amusing as well as exciting.

NO. 4.

Wild Bill's Cowboys and Rough Riders.

Saddling and riding wild bucking bronchos. The riders are genuine cowboys and will ride any wild horse, mules or steers that are brought to them free of charge, on the track before the public.

NO. 5.

Fancy and Trick Riding.

Mounting and dismounting, jumping completely over the horse and back in the saddle, hanging by the feet on the saddle horn, and all in the most reckless and daring manner. Vaulting off both sides, picking up objects, also doing backward pickup, introducing Rough Riders Monkey Drill and finishing by standing on the head and shoulders on the horse's neck, all while the horse is at full speed. This is ridden by W. H. and J. V. Kennedy, the champion fancy riders of the world.

NO. 6.

Cowboy's Fun.

Picking up small objects from the back of a running horse.

NO. 7.

Lassoing and Roping.

Cowboys lassoing each other's horses, catching by the feet, head, etc. Throwing half pitches, spinning the rope in a circle, etc.

NO. 8.

Funny Clown Act,

By one of the Greatest Clowns, with his ever laughable and funny performances. A GREAT ACT FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN.

NO. 9.

Indian Race.

Indian race on horseback between three Indians. One half-mile dash.

Wednesday, August 5, Grand Ex-Confederate Parade and Reunion on Fair Ground at Madisonville.

FOR THE KITCHEN.

Two Useful Contrivances That Save Time and Labor.

An Illinois lady suggests the following conveniences:

Water and fuel are the two principal articles in the kitchen. To have them handy and convenient saves nearly one-half the labor. The accompanying illustration nearly explains itself. The water tank is made of galvanized iron to hold fifteen or twenty gallons and has a spigot at the bottom, on which is fitted a short piece of rubber hose. The teakettle or anything else on the stove can be quickly and easily filled without spilling any on the stove or floor. The shelf on which the tank sits should be a little higher than the stove and fastened securely to the wall. It can be filled with a force pump or carried in pails.

The fuel box is made in the wall near the stove and extends out in the wood shed or coal bin, back of the kitchen, as shown by the dotted lines. It is filled right from the outside, so there is no carrying of wood or coal through the kitchen. It has a cover with hinges and always looks neat. It is the handiest fuel box I know of.—St. Louis Republic.

Cleaning Pictures.

In cleaning house one of the principal cares should be the pictures. It is too often overlooked or left to the care of servants, when the mistress should give it her personal attention. Each picture as it is taken down should be carefully dusted and the cord or wire wiped. Then lay it on a table, wash the glass and polish it until it is perfectly clear. Wipe the frame with a soft cloth, wet in warm water and rub off all fly specks and other dirt. If the picture is framed with a glass paste paper smoothly all over the back to keep dust from sitting through the cracks. Frames of polished wood, oak, walnut, or, in fact, anything but gilt, will be greatly improved by rubbing them with a solution of three parts linseed oil and one part turpentine. Apply with a woolen cloth and rub with a dry woolen cloth until perfectly dry.

Stocking Bags.

One of the most convenient articles imaginable is a stocking bag. To make one requires a piece of large flowered calico or other goods and a piece of cardboard. Cut the piece of cardboard seven inches square, round off the two lower corners, leaving the top square, and pad on the outside with a little batting. Then cover with the cloth, turning and whipping it over and under the edges. Cut a strip of cloth two inches long, hem it at the ends, leaving the hem wide enough to slip a tape string through. Gather the sides and sew to the covered cardboard, the straight edges to be used for the top.

Use of Hot Water.

Hot water is a medicine within the reach of every woman. Half a teacupful of hot as can be drunk comfortably half an hour before meals is a great preventive of indigestion. It is one of the best remedies for a disordered stomach if a little salt be added, and the same is the best gargle for a sore throat. Hot water is good for constipation if taken at bedtime. If followed up for a few months it will work wonders on the most delicate constitution.

Parsley For the Kitchen.

Every kitchen ought to have its pot of growing parsley. The pretty and most useful herb is easily grown, and the advantage of having fresh leaves on hand whenever they are wanted is plain. Buy a five cent package of seed and sow on top of the soil in a five inch pot. Water well and set the pot in a light window. In a short time the pot will be a mass of green. Weed out the weak plants.

To Clean Brass on Bedsteads.

Brass on bedsteads should never be cleaned with the ordinary brass polishers, as they destroy the coat of lacquer that is put on to prevent the brass from tarnishing. The bright parts should be rubbed every day with a soft cloth, and if they begin to look discolored rub with a cloth slightly moistened with sweet oil and afterward polish with a soft cloth and camellia leather.

A Fire to Last For Hours.

If you want a fire to keep in for hours try this plan: First let it burn until quite clear and rather low. Then put on some big lumps of coal. Flatten down and on top heap a good thick layer of dust and ashes, which press down with a shovel as hard as you can. A fire made up like this will last, without any more attention, through the greater part of the night.

See The Great Trick House Pantomime each Day. You won't quit laughing for six months.

Lady Jockey Race.

One half mile dash between Miss Cook and Miss Kennedy. Both of these ladies have laurels for their fast and reckless riding and the contest is the best that can be produced.

Tandem Race.

Four-horse tandem race, riding one and driving the others, single file.

Racing Greyhounds.

A pair of imported English Greyhounds, well broken to harness, are driven by a lady to a small rubber tired sulky, and race against a pony. The only pair in America today. This act alone is a good feature for any public exhibition.

Guideless Wonder.

The thoroughbred race horse, Grey Eagle, that runs one half mile without rider or driver. His half mile race is 10 1/2 seconds. He is turned loose on the track, starts and comes back at the tap of the bell. A Great Feature.

Roman Chariot Race.

One half mile dash between two four horse teams of Kentucky thoroughbreds, driven by lady and gentleman.

In addition to the features of the Wild West Show outlined above, the Marvelous Redmonds will give thrilling exhibitions on the slack wire.

Palermo Bros. will present their wonderful Trick House Pantomime Act, doing marvelous acrobatic turns which delight and thrill the audience at the same time. This act alone is worth the entire price of admission and it will be six months before you quit laughing.

Remember all these acts are given in the track, in front of the grand stand, free to all, daily, between the heats of races and show rings.

Performances commence promptly at nine a. m., and continue uninterrupted until over in the afternoon, except the noon intermission.

6-Horse Standing Race.

Between two speedy three horse teams each team being ridden by an athlete who stands with one foot on each of the outside horses and astride the middle horse.

4-Horse Standing Race.

Same as above, only using two horses each.

Hurdle Race.

Between two jockeys on thoroughbreds, racing one half mile and jumping three hurdles from 3 to 5 feet high.

Comic Cowboy Race.

Two cowboys riding sitting down astride of two horses each. One fourth mile.

Capturing and Hanging a Horse Thief.

The supposed thief steals a horse, is pursued by cowboys, lassoed, pulled off his horse, dragged on the ground, and hanged to a tree or pole.

Riding a Wild Texas Steer.

Kennedy Bros Rough Riders will ride a wild Texas steer. This is one of the most exciting and amusing features of the program, as the steer bucks like a broncho.

Plenty of Ice Water free to all. Everything just as advertised. No disappointment. No fakes.

Other special attractions will be added from time to time, making in all the greatest combined program ever seen upon any Fair ground in the state.

Everything clean and unobjectionable. No drunkenness or disorder of any kind tolerated. Absolutely no gambling devices of any description will be permitted to run.

Take your family and enjoy one or more days of recreation, and meet and mingle with old friends, see the races, show rings, and Wild West Show performances, all for one price of admission.

KILLING OF JESSE BURTON

At the A. O. U. W. Picnic By Marshal Lindie While Trying to Escape From Officers.

MAF AFFAIR DEEPLY REGRETTED BY THE CITIZENS OF EARLINGTON.

For a number of years it has been the custom for some of the various secret orders to have an annual picnic at Lakeside park, near this place, on July 4th. This year the Ancient Order of United Workmen gave a picnic and barbecue which was attended by hundreds of people from town and country. The dancing hall was thronged with people, bands were playing, old friends were exchanging greetings and nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the occasion until about one o'clock, when an attempt was made to arrest Jesse Burton, of the Sulphur Springs neighborhood. It seems young Burton was placed under arrest by Constable Sisk, who started with him to the steps, where a surly awaited to convey him to town. On the way to the surly Burton attempted to pull loose from Sisk when E. E. Witherspoon, another officer, came to Sisk's assistance and both officers then took Burton to the surly and placed him in it, after a struggle. Burton had scarcely been seated in the surly before he jumped out from the opposite side and ran down the road in his shirt sleeves, having thrown his coat containing a pistol to some one in the crowd before entering the surly. As he ran down the road some one said "Shoot him," and Officer E. E. Witherspoon fired in the ground about six feet to the right of the fleeing man in order to stop him. The evidence before the coroner's jury was to the effect that Marshal Lindie then placed himself between Witherspoon and Burton and fired two shots, one of which unfortunately took effect in his back, near the center. When the last shot was fired Burton was seen to flinch and began walking. Marshal Lindie and a Special Deputy quickly reached his side and took him back to the surly and placed him in it. It was then discovered the man was seriously wounded and he was conveyed to the hospital and a physician summoned. Mr. Burton died soon after reaching Earlington. The coroner was then summoned and held an inquest of which the following is the verdict:

We, the jury, summoned by the coroner, having been duly sworn, to hold an inquest over a dead body in the city of Earlington, and that the body is that of Jesse Burton and that he came to his death at a picnic near Earlington, in Hopkins county, Kentucky, about one o'clock p.m., on July 4, 1903, by a pistol shot fired by E. Lindie, being fired upon by E. Lindie and E. E. Witherspoon, officers of the law, he having been arrested and attempting to escape by fleeing.

C. W. HESSON, S. A. WATSON, G. W. WYATT, B. G. ASHBY, C. E. TAPP, SADR MOORE, L. D. H. RODGER, Coroner. Lindie and Witherspoon surrendered themselves to the sheriff, who took them to Madisonville, from which place they were conveyed to Hanson in time to catch the midnight train for Henderson. This is undoubtedly one of the most deplorable affairs that has ever happened in this place and nowhere in Hopkins county is it regretted more deeply than at Earlington. The testimony at the coroner's inquest all went to prove that Witherspoon shot to stop the man and had no desire to injure him, as he shot in the ground and the dirt was seen to fly from where the bullet struck.

A Kentucky Judge.

Citizens of Breathitt county, Kentucky, who incur the ill-will of the Hargis family are apt to find life uncertain and unpleasant. Judge James F. Hargis is county judge and chief advisor and director of the Hargis clan of murders, assassins, perjurers and house-burners. He is also a member of the Democratic State Central Committee and some of the Kentucky papers have been bold enough to suggest that he resign. The Lexington Herald says: "If he does not resign the identity of Judge Hargis with the Democratic party and its State organization may prove disastrous." Another paper says he should either resign or be forced out of the committee. Judge Hargis himself calmly remarks: "I will do as I damn please." Doubtless he will. The editor of the Winchester Star relates this experience of the editors of the two papers published in Jackson, the home of Judge Hargis, and the scene of numerous assassinations and farcical trials:

There are two papers published in Jackson, Breathitt county, the Hustler and the News. The editors, T. M. Morrow and J. Wise Hagins, are nice gentlemen and under ordinary circumstances would give the news. But they both know that if they were to publish the facts about the conditions in Breathitt county they would be killed. If the Hargis clan do not own the Hustler they control it absolutely.

The News some time since published some facts in which the name of one of the Hargis brothers was mentioned. This so enraged Mr. Hargis that he went to the News office and kicked the editor and ordered him, on pain of death, never to mention his name again. He then went to the typesetter and told him that he must expect the same fate. To save Messrs. Morrow and Hagins from any suspicion on which they might be assassinated, I will state that the printer, who left Jackson by the next train, gave me this information.

Perhaps Judge Hargis is a paying subscriber to his home papers. If so, he naturally feels that he should have a voice in directing their policies. He is also a merchant, and it may be that he advertises in the News and Hustler. In that case he, of course, has the right to kick the editor. Judge Hargis is a strenuous man. He leads an active life and keeps his neighbors guessing which one will be next to fall to the merry music of the assassin's rifle. His associates on the Democratic State Committee are doubtless proud of him.—American.

BIG SHOOT.

Earlington Gun Club Leads in the Great Contest Saturday.

The Earlington Gun Club celebrated the Fourth of July with a shoot at their grounds. There were several local clubs here to shoot with the boys, and among them some good shots. W. G. Barter, of the Earlington club, captured the greatest number of prizes, and carried off the honors of the day's shooting by breaking 130 targets out of 145. Sullivan, of Elkton, next with 128. The leading score of the Hopkinsville was made by Wood, scoring 123.

The prizes were divided among Earlington, Elkton and Hopkinsville, all of whom did some good shooting. Perhaps Russia is simply moving her troops in and out of New Chungang to give them exercise.

RAGE RIOTS IN EVANSVILLE.

Six Killed and Twenty-five Injured—Streets of Evansville a Slaughter Pen.

SHOTS FIRED BY MILITIAMEN.

Evansville, Ind., July 7, 12:30 a. m.—The first fatalities attending the riotous scenes of the past three days resulted tonight, when six persons were killed and probably twenty-five wounded, as the result of the militia firing upon a mob of people in front of the jail at 11 p. m. tonight.

The crowds gradually grew in size and the people bolder. After numerous incendiary speeches had been made, in which the militia was referred to as duds and soldiers with blank cartridges, the crowd became bold and began to take liberties.

Finally an old bicycle was secured, and it was used as a sort of battering ram to dislodge the line of soldiers. As the crowd pressed near the militiamen the excitement grew intense.

Finally some one threw a rock and struck a soldier in the neck and he fell. A pistol shot was then heard, and then the firing became general. There was a mad rush for safety, and it has been proved since that most of the injured were wounded while running away.

As the crowd fled some of the mob turned and opened on the soldiers and five wounded militiamen are now in hospitals, as are many of the other wounded, although numbers of the latter were taken to their homes by friends.

When the street was cleared of the fleeing crowd it resembled a slaughter pen, the dead and wounded being strewn all over the street.

The sight was a shocking one. A riot call was sent in from the jail and a patrol wagon of policemen and deputies went hastening to the scene.

The excited militiamen thought themselves about to be attacked by another mob, and they rallied into line and prepared to defend themselves. Guns were trained for the defense, and for a moment it looked as though there would be more bloodshed. Some coolheaded persons were equal to the occasion. Ambulances and cabs were called and the work of removing the dead and wounded began.

The Dead.

Hazel Allmen, sixteen years old, shot in heart.
Ed Ruhl, twenty-two years old, shot in the back.

Sergeant Will Reese, leg and ankle wounds.
Melvin Jacques, private, in arm.
Richard Knoll, private, hit on arm with stone.

One other private slightly wounded.

Chas. Taylor, twenty years, shot in back; will die.
Henry Smith, middle aged, slightly wounded.

Riley Mayes, middle aged, seriously wounded.

William Kellar, twenty-one years, slightly wounded.

"NEW KENTUCKY HOME."

Contract For State Building at the World's Fair Will Be Awarded This Week.

From present indication actual work on the construction of the Kentucky State Building at the St. Louis World's Fair grounds will begin within a fortnight. The Building Committee of the Kentucky Exhibit Association met last week and received proposals from thirteen of the country's big contractors to erect the building. Twelve of this number have contracts with the Louisiana Purchase Exposition for putting different buildings on the grounds. The Exhibit Association had determined many months ago to hold the cost of the building, it being temporary, down to $30,000. Three of the bids received were under $30,000 and one that figure exactly. The committee passed a resolution, recommending to the Board of Directors of the Association that the lowest bid be accepted and contract at once entered into. The directors held a meeting two days later—eight of the fifteen members of the board being absent—and approved the recommendations of the Building Committee. Resolutions to this effect were adopted, each member present signing and the Secretary being directed to forward the paper to the absent members. The name of the contractor will be withheld until this formality is carried out.

"They Say."

Two simple words which we hear almost every hour in the day. Rich and poor, high and low continuously use them.

Have you ever stopped to think how many times tears have flown; how many hours, and days, and months and years have been lived through in bitter anguish; how many hearts have been broken—all because of the simple phrase, "They say!"

How friendly it often sounds! And yet, how much venom is not infrequently hidden in it.

The most preposterous statements are sometimes introduced with "They say." And there are always people ready to believe the almost unbelievable, and who iterate and reiterate it, until it becomes an accepted fact.

"They say" is like the mirage that appears to the thirsty traveler in the desert; the more he strains to reach it the more rapidly it fades away into mere nothingness.

When the victim of slander tries to trace it to its source, nobody knows anything about it except—"They say."

It was repeated merely as a stray bit of news; no evil was intended; it was only a joke; nothing had been made up, and it was simply a repetition of what others had stated before.

But it grew like the rings from a stone cast into the water; like an avalanche hurling down the mountain side it gained in speed and in force. It struck home.

And another reputation was blasted, another heart was broken.—KX.

The newspapers of Philadelphia are having a fine game of ping-pong with that new libel law.

PULASKI LEEDS,

Superintendent of Machinery of L. & N., Shot Down in Office at Louisville by George B. Warner.

REFUSED TO GIVE WARNER A LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION.

Pulaski Leeds, one of the most prominent officials of the L. & N., was shot down in his office at Louisville Monday by George B. Warner, a discharged employe, who then shot himself. The wound, while painful, is not thought to be dangerous unless blood poison should set up. Warner is likely to recover.

Pulaski Leeds is one of the best-known master mechanics in the United States. He has held the position of superintendent of machinery of the Louisville & Nashville railroad since 1880.

Mr. Leeds is a man of striking presence, being over six feet tall and built in proportion. He was exceedingly popular with his subordinates and his associates. He was easy to approach, and the humblest employe of the L. & N. shops could at any time secure an audience with him. He was affable in manner and good natured at all times.

Mr. Leeds has a high reputation among the master mechanics throughout the United States and Canada, being a member and officer in the National Association of Master Mechanics. He has made a fine record while serving in his present capacity and has brought the mechanical department of the L. & N. up to the very highest standard.

Mr. Leeds had charge of the work of building the large car and locomotive shops which the L. & N. is now building in South Louisville and which are to be the greatest railroad shops in the South.

Mr. Leeds took great pride in this work. It was his intention to have the shops provided with the finest machinery of any railroad shop in the United States.

Mr. Leeds began his railroad career with the New York, New Haven and Hartford. Twenty-five years ago he came West to accept a position with the Indiana, Decatur and Western, now the C. H. and D., at Indianapolis. He came to Louisville in 1882 as master mechanic of the shops. He succeeded Harvey Middleton, who had been appointed superintendent of machinery in place of Reuben Wells. When Mr. Middleton left the L. & N. to go with the B. and O. as master mechanic Mr. Leeds succeeded to the position of superintendent of machinery. He has filled the position held by these two distinguished mechanics with eminent ability and satisfaction.

HONORS FOR PAUL M. MOORE.

Will Be Next President of Kentucky Press Association.

It seems a certainty that Mr. Paul M. Moore, of the Earlington Bee, will be elected president of the Kentucky Press Association at its annual meeting at Lexington this month, says the Louisville Times. He is eminently qualified for the place, and, so far as is known, will have no opposition. The next man in line for the honor is Mr. Louis Landram, of the Lancaster Record, who has given much of his time to promoting the interests of the organization. He is bright, capable and deserving.

A place for everything, and everything in it, is a good description of some closets.

DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED.

Party Of Earlingtonians Play Fling at Hopkinsville.

A jolly party of flinch players, numbering 15, went to Hopkinsville on 51 Monday afternoon, where they were met by another equally jolly party of flinchers with carriages. After being driven over the city for some time an elegant dinner was served at Hotel Latham, which, it is needless to add was very much enjoyed. After dinner the party adjourned to the spacious parlors, where tables were arranged for playing.

Eight games were played as hurriedly as possibly by Earlington rules and never was any contest more enjoyed by all present than this one.

At the close of the eighth game it was found that five of the Earlington people had won seven games and these five out for the prize, which was a very handsome medalion. Frank Rash's usual good luck did not desert him and he won the prize. The score stood 88 to 64 in favor of Earlington. The Hopkinsville people are just as nice and sweet and clever as they can be and it is sincerely to be hoped this will not be the last time Earlington and Hopkinsville will meet on the flinch field.

What a Newspaper Does.

Speaking of what a newspaper does for a community, United States Senator David Davis, of Illinois, made an address that remains ever green in the memories of newspaper men. He said: "Every year every local newspaper gives from 500 to 5,000 free lines for the benefit of the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The editor in proportion to his means does more for his town than any man, and in all fairness, man to man, he ought to be supported—not because you happen to like him or admire his writings, but because a local paper is the best investment that a community can make. It may not be crowded with great thought, but financially it is of more benefit than preacher or teacher. Today editors do more for less money than any men on earth. Patronize your home paper not as a charity, but as an investment."

What Love Is.

Some people have a very vague indistinct idea of what love really is. Below will be found a definition of love and what it means in the highest sense of the term.

Love is the brightest star in the Christian firmament, the fairest flower in the garden of God. It comprehends all virtue, honor, goodness, purity, sincerity, magnanimity and whatever else can adorn the human character. For what is holiness but love pure and supreme? and what is heaven, but love perfected, unalloyed and everlasting? and what are all the christian virtues and graces but so many modifications and variations of the same divine principle? Mercy, what is it but love sparing the guilty? and kindness, but love blessing the needy? and pity, but love sympathizing with the sufferer? And what is beneficence, but love distributing its bounty? and gratitude, but love recognizing its favors? and fortitude, and fidelity, but love sustaining its burden? and fidelity, but love preforming its promises and vows? And what is zeal but love contending? and peace, but loving? and joy, but love exulting? and patience, but love enduring? and meekness, but love forbearing with its foe.

Marvelous Escape from Death!

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

Does a Wondrous Work for a Lady Who Was Almost Crazed with Pain and Suffering.

It is well known that terrible rheumatism, sciatica, and neuritis cause more helplessness, acute suffering, and agony, than any of the other diseases that afflict humanity. The great medicinal virtue of Paine's Celery Compound makes it the only truly specific for the cure of all forms of rheumatism and sciatica. Thousands of strong testimonial letters from the most prominent people of the land, prove that Paine's Celery Compound has vanquished these terrible fatal troubles when all other treatment has failed. Mrs. Margaret Bell, of Trenton, Minn., after thirty years of agonizing tortures had a desire to end her life, if it was the will of Heaven she almost paid for the time by taking it down. Heaven-directed, she made use of Paine's Celery Compound, and is enjoying true life again.

"For thirty years I have been a great sufferer from neuritis in the head, and also with rheumatism in the whole body. I began taking Paine's Celery Compound and soon found I was much better. Before taking the Compound, my life was such a burden that almost prayed to lay it down. I was bedridden two weeks with horrible pain in the head, limbs, and joints, until I almost crazed. I am able to do harder work and more of it today than for twenty-five years. I am really enjoying life again, thanks to Paine's Celery Compound. I am satisfied that my life has been prolonged many years by its use."

The gentlemen who occupy the steps at the corner of Walden & Eades restaurant are requested to be careful where they expectorate as tobacco juice shows up badly on a ladies' white dress.

Night Was Her Terror

"It would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 50 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at St. Bernard Drug Store.

A Noble Work.

We congratulate the people of Earlington for the great interest they have taken of late in their cemeteries. We should give due praise and thanks especially to those self-sacrificing ladies who have taken such an active part in this good work and have borne all the burden and labor in order to have a fit resting place for their loved ones and especially for those who have no one to care for their graves.

To much cannot be said in their praise; for it they had not banded together—this showing that mutual christian spirit, and worked so zealously for this cause the cemeteries this year would have been sadly neglected as in the past.

If this good work is continued, our cemeteries will in the course of a year or so, be a credit to our town and a pleasure to visit. Then we can in truth say: "Gone but not forgotten."

Brutally Tortured.

A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Golobek of Coitus, Cal., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried every thing known. I came across Eberle's Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by St. Bernard Drug Store.

With this edition of THE BEE we present our readers with a supplement advertising the Guthrie and great Hopkins county fair which will take place at Guthrie and Madisonville respectively the latter part of this month and the first of next. These two fairs are gotten up on a grander scale than ever this year and no expense is being spared to make them a success.

Our Country Grand.

O, country grand and free,
Our prayers ascend for thee
To God above.
The curse of drink, we pray,
Be put from the Thee away.
And come that blessed day
Of joy and love.

God of the nations great,
While here Thy people wait,
Thy ways unfold:
O, may we see the light,
O, may we do the right,
And in Thy conquering might Thy cause uphold.

O, righteous God on high,
Hear Thou Thy people's cry.
Help us implore;
O, may Thy children stand
A firm, united band,
And from ruin save the land
For evermore.

God of the nations, spare
The people of Thy care, Deliverance send;
Free Thou the fettered soul,
And from the drunkard's bowl
As joyous years shall roll.
Thine own defend.

Mary (aged 7)—How can you smoke cigarettes and yet say it's wrong?
You're like our councilmen who say saloons are wrong but always vote for them.

Jimmie (aged 8)—Well, you see we politicians have to do these things.
Secretary Root has cabled Governor Taft that the opium license proposition of the government shall be abandoned for the present. But why for the present? Ah! Root is a sly old dog, but he will find that not only "Crafts and Stunts," but a host of other people are taking note of his little game.

A late number of Leslie's Weekly says: "Racco track gambling is the most wide spread, most formidable, and most demoralizing form of the evil of gambling. More money is staked and lost in it than in any other, and it is more productive than any other, of misery and crime. Few pool rooms would exist anywhere were it not for the patronage furnished them over the telegraph lines from the race tracks. By all means let everything possible be done to kill off the gambling curse, conceded by all competent persons to be one of the greatest vices of modern times."

From the long list of tragedies that occur as a result of the "Fourth of July," the question forces itself to the front, would it not be better to take the "Glorious(?) Fourth" from the list of holidays?
We admit that at first reading this may seem very unpatriotic, but we maintain that as the day is coming to be observed, it is desecrated.
It is not creditable to us as a nation that we express our love for our country in drunken brawls and convulsions of crime. Better a hundred times we say, let today be spent in honest labor than in carous-ing.

If the business houses and shops and factories that are of benefit to be closed, we say, why should not the saloons that are a curse, be closed also? Why should this favoritism be shown? Is love for one's country dependent upon alcoholic poison?

It is a sad commentary upon the descendants of our revolutionary fathers, that we have so stained this sacredness of the birth of our country.

The Navy Department has forced the city of Bremerton, near Seattle, Wash., to close its saloons. Bremerton is the seat of one of the United States Navy yards, and the street leading to the yards contained a large number of resorts.

The Navy Department took the position that the presence of so many drinking places in the immediate vicinity of the docks, had a demoralizing effect upon the men and that under such conditions, only inferior work could be expected from them.

The saloon men and their sympatizers put up a strong fight, but in the end were obliged to surrender as the Department threatened to remove the yards entirely unless the saloons were closed.

This stand of the Government received such universal and spontaneous commendation from the press of the country that the conservative Pittsburgh Dispatch could not refrain from saying, "The newspapers which applaud the vigor of this stand have been for years commenting on the foolishness of Prohibition," and the fact that "Prohibition does not prohibit anyhow."
There certainly seems to be room for explanation of the idea that Prohibition is the correct thing at Bremerton and nowhere else in this broad land."

This department would also like to have Secretary of War Root explain how drinking places can have a demoralizing effect upon the navy and at the same time improve the welfare of the army.

It Might Be Worse.

Truth, a liquor organ published at Detroit, Mich., says, and it knows,
"The trend of public sentiment in this decade against the liquor traffic, and when the trade realizes this fact and confines its efforts entirely to protecting what they now have and banishing thoughts of what they would like, the better it will be for all."

The June number of Current Literature says the drink habit is so bad in England as to be really alarming. The public houses or saloons are always on the side of the Conservative party. These lately have come under the control generally, of rich brewers and distillers.
There are in the United Kingdom over one hundred and fifty thousand licenses for the sale of alcoholic drinks, and there is no approach to consistency in the number of public houses in various towns. In London the number of licensed houses exceeds fourteen thousand or one to every six inhabitants.

The annual drink bill of the United Kingdom reaches the enormous sum of nearly nine hundred millions of dollars, far exceeding the entire amount expended for all religious, educational and charitable objects.
This is an average of over $100 a year for every family of five persons. This a fine example of the beauty of "regulating" the evil.

There are movements on foot, however, for the reduction of this alarming evil. A law, in force for the first time this year, makes the treating of men under the influence of liquor a punishable offense. Also, an habitual drunkard, when once declared by a magistrate, is guilty of crime if he asks for liquor on licensed premises within three years after the date of such declaration, and any persons who furnish liquor to such declared drunkards are inable to be severely punished.

The gambling habit, one of the associated evils of drinking, has also alarmingly developed in England, and measures against it, based upon investigations by a House of Commons committee, are now before Parliament.

A Remarkable Occurrence in the Depths of a Fissure Vein.

A remarkable and, so far as I know, unprecedented occurrence was found lately in the deep workings of the Fisk Mine at Central Colorado, by Mr. M. P.
Dalton, manager, and by him brought to the notice of Mine and Minerals.

It consists of a carbonized fragment of a tree changed into fairly hard lignite coal, found imbedded in the fissure vein 1,000 feet below the surface. Although the fragment is thoroughly changed into coal, it shows still the structure of the wood. The piece is about 2 feet long by 4 inches thick, and 4 or 5 inches wide.
It was found at a slight enlargement of the vein of quartz and sulphides, and was entirely surrounded by and imbedded in an unusually large and rich body of iron sulphides from which several carloades were taken running 14 ounces to the ton.

The Fisk vein is an ordinary, typical, true fissure vein with quartz filling between granitic walls carrying gold bearing iron pyrites. The vein from wall to wall is from 4 to 6 feet wide and is nearly vertical. The mine is developed to a depth of 1,100 feet.

We can only account for this remarkable occurrence of so large a piece of organic matter at that depth, on the hypothesis of the fissure having for a long period lain open to a considerable width sufficient to allow a fragment of a tree from the surroundings to fall or be washed in, and after being covered up by vein stuff, silica, and ore, gradually changed to coal.

That there should be a large precipitation of ore around this organic substance is only what we might have expected, and that it should be rich is equally reasonable.

There is no possible question as to it being real coal and a real fragment of a carbonized tree.
Fearing to trust my own eyes, I sent the fragment to a noted coal expert and geologist, who likewise agreed it was genuine coal.

The way in which it was found imbedded in ore and vein stuff in an entirely new working, precludes all possibility of its having been dropped in by some one from above, or of being the carbonized relic of some old mine timber.

We have a few examples of charcoal and carbonized wood having been found in some of the deep workings of some mines in Colorado, such as in the Bassick Mine at Rosita, but as these mines occupy the throat of an ancient volcanic crater, or fumaeole, the presence of charcoal is easily accounted for by trees growing along the edge of the orifice, having fallen in during the process of eruption.

No man can claim to be the lord of creation so long as a girl bosses his telephone connections.

A man who could swiftly solve the most difficult mathematical problems and easily duplicate the feats performed by lightning calculators has just died in New Jersey asylum.
Genius and insanity again.

To kill mosquitoes with music is the latest idea of a scientific discoverer. At last a way has been found for "dat little German band."

The suit for $190,000 brought by a physician against a Pittsburgh politician recalls the remark of a policeman about a daylight hold up in Chicago: Who's better to be held up than a Jew?

The Openheimer Escapade of Russellville is getting rather interesting for more than one party and it is probable that one of the boys in that city will depart for greener fields if this investigation business keeps up.

A New York striker who assaulted a non-union workman gets six months in the penitentiary and the judge says: "The right to labor must be secured as guaranteed by law." That's what the Federal court injunction says to all who would interfere with the free miners of Hopkins county, too, but the man has not come yet who dared to flagrantly violate this mandate.

The Louisville Times hits the eloquent piece of iron on the eranium when it says: While the Kentucky Bar Association is adopting resolutions calling for a higher standard of attainment on the part of lawyers, consideration of means for the better enforcement of the law itself would not be far amiss. Fewer lawyers and more law, and Kentucky would be the better for it.

The Bee stands for law and order, and believes in standing by the officers of the law in the performance of their duties when they are in the right, but from the evidence before the coroner's jury in the unfortunate affair of Saturday, it would seem that the action of the officers was wholly indefensible. Men who accept positions as peace officers must understand that the authority conferred on them does not justify them in taking life unless their own lives are placed in jeopardy. The law must take its course.

The man whose home is the best in the land, whose town is the best in the country, whose state is the best in the Union, whose nation is the best and strongest in the world—that man is a good citizen, whether he is a bank president, a mechanic, a school teacher or a day laborer. Such a man will take his home, paper, even if it is a size or two smaller than the dailies and does not contain so much foreign news. He will also do his trading at home whenever it is possible, if he does have to pay a few cents more for the goods or produce, as the case may be. He will always speak a good word for his town and clanship here, cause, whatever it may be. He will be loyal to every educational work for the success of the same in preference to anything outside. Then, as a reward for his fidelity to his town and her people he will have prosperity and success and the highest regard of his neighbors.

The call for a strike of the St. Louis street car employees was a failure but the Fair city is being ill advertised by the news of such strikes as this and the recent freight handlers' trouble.

THERE is a damage suit in the Supreme Court of Kansas which will determine whether the epithet "Jackass" is a slander when applied to a Kansas farmer.

The suit, brought in Texas by the Commonwealth against certain labor unions promises to establish the fact that labor unions are trusts which interfere with trade and the liberty of citizens. The suit is in the Federal Court at San Antonio and is based upon a section of law declaring unlawful any agreement to boycott.

Warrant Against Union Men.

William Watson, an employee of the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company, of Louisville, claims that he was assaulted by George Coons, William Yeager, William Sinkhorn and Edward Gorman, members of the union, who are now on a strike. He claims that the men approached him in the rear of the Telephone building, on Green street, between Fourth and Fifth and called him a "scab." An argument ensued, during which, he claims, he was assaulted.

Watson swore out a warrant, charging them with disorderly conduct.

To a Self-Conscious Maiden.

Put self wholly out of your mind, and study the interests of those around you.

You can acquire it by making of your mind a storehouse for all that is good and beautiful in literature, music, art, etc.

Your efforts to amuse others will cause you to forget all about yourself, while others will be only glad to remember.

This is the true secret of popularity and success.

Follow it closely and you will soon have cause to wonder at your former diffidence and "self-consciousness" that had caused you so many unhappy moments.

Thomas J. Lipton.

Seventeen years ago Thomas J. Lipton, the "Provision King" of Great Britain was selling goods over a counter. Today he is worth upwards of $35,000,000. He made it by keeping good goods and advertising them through the newspapers.

His first store was started in a small way. He advertised and grew.

He now has 60 stores and is still advertising and growing.

If you are in business and not advertising, you're wasting time. You might just as well have fine selling goods for you and increasing your business as Lipton.

HIGH CLASS FEATURES
FOR THE STATE FAIR AT OWENSBORO
Executive Committee Makes More Contracts for This Big Public Enterprise.

The Executive Committee of the Kentucky State Fair Association which will hold its big fair at Owensboro during September 21st, has added some highly interesting free amusement features to its programme, among them being Dr. Carver, the celebrated marksman; the eight wonderful horses which race at full speed without drivers; a race between a team driven by a bull dog and a team driven by a man; four automobile races, one of which will be for amateur enthusiasts of Owensboro only; a fine foot ball game and hurdle races.

In addition to the $20,000 cash prizes for exhibits, there will be many prize silver cups offered by various associations and individuals. The contracts for the big buildings will be let within a week.

Catalogues or any information can be secured by addressing Secretary L. B. Shropshire, Room No. 25 Board of Trade Building, Louisville, Ky. Kentucky State Fair Association. By GRAHAM VERELAND.

What Should Be Told of a Man's Life?

The aim of all portraiture ought to be the emphasizing of what makes the man different from, not like, other men. It is the specific, the individual, view that we want to catch. Some people have an inborn objection to the particular. Their one desire is to be, and to appear to be, exactly like everybody else. The widow almost always desires that her deceased hero should be represented exactly like all other respectable men, only a little grander, a little more glorified. She hates, as only a bad biographer can hate, the telling of the truth with respect to those faults and foibles which made the light and shade of his character.

When I was a young man, and frequented the Peraphanities, I used to notice that Rosetti had a very curious way of tilting a glass or cup out of which he was drinking, and gulping down the last drops in a great hurry. I have never heard or seen this trick noticed by anyone else, and it is so trivial that I have never thought of recording it myself. But there it is in my memory; the feverish, swarthy face turned upward in profile, and the large lips eagerly sipping down the stream of liquid. I don't know why, but in that trifle I see Rosetti again after all these years; there is something, to me, characteristic, personal, unique, in the habitual gesture. Are we not glad to know, on the authority of those who have seen him, that Bacon had a nut-colored eye, like the eye of a snake, and that he would not allow any of his servants to wear boots of Spanish calf because he hated the smell of it? Is it not satisfactory to be told that the celebrated Dr. Isaac Barrow was so dreamy that he would mount the stairs of the pulpit, and address a fashionable audience, with his collar unbuttoned? I cannot tell why it is that the modern biographer is so afraid of letting us into these little picturesque secrets.—Edmund Gosse on "The Ethics of Biography," in the July Cosmopolitan.

Bloodshed in Uniontown Sunday.

The D. C. street and barge brought the colored negro ex-carcionists from Henderson Sunday. Leaving the wharf here, in a general fight, five men and three women were shot, three drowned and many put in jail.

No False Claims.

The proprietors of Foley's Honey and Tar do not advertise this as a cure cure for consumption. They do not claim it will cure this dread complaint in advanced cases, but do positively assert that it will cure in the earlier stages and never fails to give comfort and relief in the worst cases. Foley's Honey and Tar without doubt the greatest throat and lung remedy. Refuse substitutes. Sold by J. C. Taylor.
